

Welcome

Hello and a warm welcome to Camomile Ceremonies.

I'm guessing you're here because you would like help with a ceremony?

Well the good news is because you're the expert in you and Celebrants are the experts in Ceremony I can definitely help.

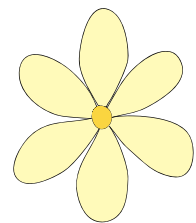

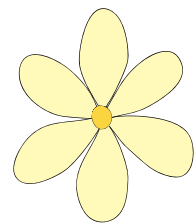

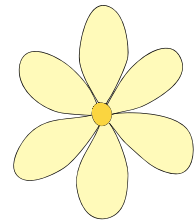

Would you like support from a Celebrant that's kind, compassionate, experienced and confident?

Who is a trained nurse as well as a Celebrant?

Are you hoping for someone who will tell your story, capturing all the special details and telling it in a personalised and unique way?

Would it be good if your event surpassed your expectations?

If the answer is yes. Camomile Ceremonies might be just right for your needs.

Tina, a bit about me

Once there was a Nurse who liked people and the magic of words and what they can express. She found herself getting involved in moments of Celebration and Joy, Baby Namings, Weddings and Vow renewals. As well as moments of reflection helping people prepare for final goodbyes and celebrations of their lives.

This Nurse is me and I found this work so inspiring. Bringing together my ability to speak in public, my love of words and communication skills I could help people have meaningful and joyful moments of celebration and remembrance.

I trained as a Celebrant and Camomile Ceremonies was born.

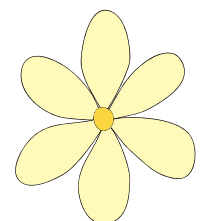

We are all different, with our quirks and unique personalities., thats what makes life so wonderful. I believe if you work with a celebrant that captures your individuality your ceremony will have a little magic in it.

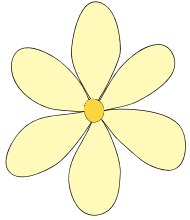

When I am conducting services they are creative, fun, compassionate, calm and kind. So everyone can feel in safe hands and relax into the ceremony.

I'm rather fond of people, words, fluffy pups, Gin and Tonic, kindness and the sun on my face. The simple pleasures make me the happiest. I'm a Ravenclaw, a Virgo and Kate Bush was my first love.

Its think its important to give back to my community, for all of its support of me. That's why I am a volunteer Celebrant for Hospiscare, am a Trustee of a local charity for those living with Disability and Hearing loss and I never make a charge for a child's celebration of life service.

Some element eggs

These are unexpectedly lovely moments for your guests to witness – remember, they will most likely be expecting just the usual vows, ring exchange and a kiss.

A Unity Sand Ceremony, Different coloured sand is blended, the sand-filled vase becomes a beautiful and meaningful keepsake. This ceremony is a visual symbolisation of the couple joining together and can be a perfect representation of two families coming together. Involving children, and parents or friends as the couple wish.

A Gin and Tonic Ceremony, It's a little added extra where favourite Gins and Tonics (other drinks possible) are blended and shared as a symbol of the couple coming together and the joy of the union.

A Blessing of the hands Ceremony, A hand joining ceremony with special words and ribbons. Other family members can be involved. The ribbons can be personalised to fit with the wedding theme or things that have a special meaning for the couple. The hand joining ribbons become a beautiful and meaningful keepsake.

A Lock and key Ceremony. The couple symbolically close a padlock together, joining their hearts forever. Much as a lock cannot be unlocked without the key neither can their love. The key is buried, tossed into the river or sea to show the love cannot be divided as the lock cannot be opened.

Many other ceremonies are possible, once a celebrant knows you better they can suggest others. All will be accompanied by a personalised script.

The packages

Embrace package

A simple package with one element that gives you all you need for a beautiful Celebration.

Enhanced package

In addition to the embrace package you may choose one extra element, and have one to one help with vow writing as well as a venue based rehearsal.

The Exquisite package

In addition to the enhanced package you may choose an extra two elements giving you four. One to one coaching sessions are included in this package. You can use these sessions to develop vows, explore how do deal with the stress of a big occasion or become more confident in delivering a speech.

Vow renewals also available as well as
Baby Naming and welcoming an adopted child Ceremonies
Adult Naming and other Ceremonies, please just ask.

What Can you expect from a Celebrant

A celebrant is a person who performs ceremonies marking some of life's biggest milestones. As well as officiating weddings, celebrants often perform vow renewals, baby naming ceremonies and funerals. For weddings, a celebrant will create a bespoke, meaningful ceremony that isn't religious. The magic happens on the day but also in the preparation. You will have:

- A one-to-one consultation, usually in person (can be virtual as well) between 1-2 hours.
- A follow up email outlining all we have agreed.
- Questionnaires between now and your occasion for you to complete which make sure all the detail and special things are captured.
- Special ceremony elements, the number depends on the package you have selected. Choose a package to suit your budget and your needs.
- A researched and personalised ceremony which takes 6-8 hours minimum to create.
- A reading of the draft ceremony in advance, so you can check it has the right "feel" and make any changes
- Depending on package, a venue liaison visit 1 to 2 hours or a zoom a week before to do a run through rehearsal
- My full attention on the day, I only book one event to officiate a day.
